During a year in which Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam announced two major higher-education initiatives designed to increase the number of Tennesseans with college degrees and certificates, Walters State realized significant gains in graduation and retention rates.

In September 2013, the governor unveiled a plan, called Drive to 55, to increase the number of Tennesseans with college degrees from 32 percent to 55 percent by 2025. In support of this plan, the governor launched the Tennessee Promise, which is a last-dollar scholarship for students who attend a Tennessee community or technical college. The Tennessee Promise, which begins with the high school class of 2015, will cover college costs not met from other sources such as Pell or the HOPE scholarship.

Walters State is already well positioned to meet the governor’s and the state’s goal to increase the number of Tennesseans with college degrees. Through new academic programs, innovative classroom and retention initiatives, strong support services and enhanced facilities, we are providing our students with a learning environment that gives them the highest probability of finishing their degree or certificate.

In addition to our primary mission of increasing the number of individuals from our service area who complete a degree, Walters State garnered national recognition last year in several areas, including a national championship in golf and national recognition for our use of technology and mobile devices in the classroom.

Walters State is blessed with talented, creative and dedicated students, faculty and staff. And we are grateful for the tremendous support and guidance we receive from the Walters State Foundation Board of Trustees and the community we serve.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT
Increasing Completion, Enhancing Access

New initiatives designed to identify individuals who are struggling academically are helping more students complete their degree or certificate. For example, a program was implemented in which faculty periodically report student progress to the college’s enrollment and retention offices so that at-risk students can be notified of our support services, such as tutoring and counseling. And innovative programs such as dual enrollment and College Express are enhancing access to college for thousands of students every semester.
GETTING A HEAD START ON COLLEGE AND A CAREER

At only 19, Dallas Ball (pictured at right, center) of Mosheim graduated in May 2014 with her associate of applied science degree in nursing.

Usually, the nursing program and required general education courses take at least three years to complete. Through dual enrollment classes, Ball was just a few credits shy of earning an associate’s degree when she graduated from South Greene High School. She entered the nursing program the following fall.

“I spent my senior year of high school at Walters State’s Greeneville/Greene County Campus. For me, it was a great opportunity. I really gained so much from taking dual enrollment courses,” Ball said.

Dual enrollment courses provide credit for high school and college classes. Many students take them for basic courses like English composition. Some students are able to complete an associate’s degree at the same time they’re earning a high school diploma.

As dual enrollment courses gain in popularity, more students are seeing the classes as a springboard for future goals. In recent years, a dual enrollment student transferred to Vanderbilt as a junior just out of high school. Another dual enrollment graduate entered law school at age 20.
New Programs

Welding, Industrial Skills Assessment and Training Programs

The college’s new welding and industrial skills training facility opened this fall in Greeneville. This new program, which is funded through a $337,000 grant, will provide training that leads to welder certification sanctioned by the American Welding Society. Also, through the Industrial Skills Assessment and Training Program, students will be prepared for high-demand, skilled manufacturing jobs.
PRE-PROFESSIONAL HEALTH MAJORS CAN FINISH FASTER

Future doctors, pharmacists, dentists and other pre-professional health majors can complete two years of college in only one year through a new program called Associate’s in 1. Students can complete an associate’s degree in a little over two semesters. The program’s first class began in fall 2014. Classes meet on the Morristown campus five days a week in a small classroom setting. Through the generosity of the WSCC Foundation, students in this program receive $4,000 to help pay for tuition.

SURGICAL TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM – A COLLABORATIVE EFFORT

In the fall 2014 semester, the college enrolled its first class of students in the new Surgical Technology Program. This new program is co-sponsored by Walters State and Roane State Community College through the Smoky Mountain Health Sciences Consortium. Classes are held at the Walters State Sevier County Campus and at the Roane State Oak Ridge Campus. Classes are delivered both traditionally and via videostreaming, and students are assigned to supervised clinical coursework in operating rooms at area hospitals.
“These types of projects strengthen our communities,” said Gov. Bill Haslam in announcing one of two state grants related to exterior site improvements at the Greeneville/Greene County Campus in downtown Greeneville. Working with the Town of Greeneville, the college applied for and was awarded two Tennessee Department of Transportation grants totaling $2.3 million to enhance pedestrian mobility and safety for students, employees and the general public. The grant will fund new, wider ADA accessible sidewalks, the installation of overhead utilities underground, an amphitheater, enhanced crosswalk signalization, pedestrian lighting, a bus stop area for the NET Trans bus system, and landscaping.
TOPPING OUT CEREMONY

Walters State commemorated a milestone in the construction of the new building at the Greeneville/Greene County Campus with a topping out ceremony in December. During the ceremony, Walters State students and employees, supporters of the college, state-and local-elected officials, and others signed a steel beam that was placed at the highest point of the new building.

Student Accomplishments, Honors

A national championship in golf, state and national academic honors and perfect pass rates on licensure exams were among the many achievements of Walters State’s very talented and creative students this past year.

Senators Success

Senators athletic teams excelled again this past year, both regionally and nationally. The Senators golf team made history this spring in Plymouth, Ind., capturing the program’s first-ever NJCAA Division II National Championship Golf tournament. The team was also named a NJCAA Division II Academic National Champion by the Golf Coaches Association of America. Both the Senators and Lady Senators basketball teams earned berths to their respective national tournaments. The Lady Senators softball team finished the season with an impressive 40-8 record, and the baseball team went 43-18 on the season. In only their second season, the Lady Senators volleyball team finished runner-up in the NJCAA Region 10 tournament.

“Gallery” Wins Award
The college’s award-winning literary and arts magazine, “Gallery,” received statewide recognition for its 2014 issue. It was named the best magazine produced by Tennessee community college students. Student Autumn Johnson was the editor-in-chief of the 2014 issue.

Walters State’s chapter to its “Top 100 Chapter” list. The list recognizes outstanding chapters across the country for their promotion of service, leadership and scholarship.

Outstanding WSCC Students
The college’s highest honor, the President’s Outstanding Student award, was given to four students for the 2013-14 academic year: (from left) Dr. Wade McCamey, Katelyn Madon of Morristown, Bret Coggins of Dandridge, Karly Frye of Chuckey, and David Johnson of Rutledge.

Walters State students were selected for membership in Kappa Beta Delta, the national honor society for students meeting high academic standards in associate degree programs accredited by the Accreditation Council of Business Schools and Programs.
Real-World Experience

The college expanded the number of internship programs last year, giving students the opportunity to learn valuable on-the-job experience. Businesses and organizations in which the college has established internships include Denso Manufacturing, Eastman Chemical, Exedy America, Dollywood, Laughlin Memorial Hospital and the Hamblen County School system.

WSCC Students Named to All-Tennessee Academic Team

Two Walters State students were named to the Phi Theta Kappa All-Tennessee Academic Team. This is one of the highest honors for community college students; the award is competitive and recipients are selected by the international honor society for community college students. Seated from left are honorees Kara Godsey, an engineering major from Greeneville, and Sara Stevers, a biology major from Talbott, and Dr. Lori Campbell, vice president for academic affairs at Walters State. Standing are Dr. Viki Rouse, left, associate professor of English, and Dr. Lisa Eccles, associate professor of biology. Rouse and Eccles are advisors to the college’s Phi Theta Kappa chapter.

The overall job placement rate for WSCC technical education graduates is 92%. Several programs achieved 100 percent placement rates, such as EMT-Paramedic, Respiratory Care and Information Technology. The percentage of 2014 physical therapist assistant graduates who passed the National Physical Therapist Assistant Exam on their first try is 100%. The national average pass rate for first-time test takers is 85 percent, according to the American Physical Therapy Association. Weight in pounds of food that was donated to the local Food Bank by the college’s Natural Science Division and the Greeneville/Greene County Campus Service Learners, which received the Greeneville Volunteer Spirit Award for 2014 is 5,348 pounds.
Six Receive Distinguished Alumni Award

A total of six individuals received this year’s Walters State Distinguished Alumni Award. The award is given to alumni who have demonstrated outstanding service in their profession and/or community and have brought honor and distinction to Walters State.

Dr. Patricia Ketterman received the 2014 Distinguished Alumni in Professional Achievement Award. She earned an associate’s degree from Walters State in 1977. She currently serves as chief nursing officer and director of nursing for LeConte Medical Center in Sevierville. She was previously employed as the CEO and nursing home administrator for Newport Medical Center; director of nursing at Baptist Hospital of Cocke County; and administrative director of nursing for Covenant Health System, Fort Sanders Regional Medical Center. She serves as president of the Cocke County Board of Health and is active in several community and professional organizations.

Dr. Shelly Shaw received the 2014 Distinguished Alumni in Professional Achievement Award. She earned an associate’s degree from Walters State in 1992. She graduated third in her class from the Southern College of Optometry in Memphis, where she received the Top Clinician Award, the Excellence in Ocular Disease and Basic Sciences Award, and the Sunsoft Contact Lens Achievement Award. She began her practice at Greeneville Eye Clinic. In 2005, she became a partner in East View Eye Care, P.C. She is a past president of the Northeast Tennessee Optometric Society. She is also involved in community organizations and was a member of the Greene County Leadership Class of 2000.

George “Joey” Seaver of Knoxville received the 2014 Distinguished Alumni in Athletic Achievement Award. He earned an associate’s degree from Walters State in 1984. He was a member of the first Senators baseball team to go to the JUCO World Series in Grand Junction, Colo. He went on to play at the University of Tennessee and in the minor leagues for the Milwaukee Brewers. He coached at Carson-Newman University for 10 years before returning to Walters State as an assistant baseball coach and assistant coordinator of high school relations. He helped lead the Senators to five more World Series appearances, including a 2006 national championship. Seaver is currently the pitching coach for the Arizona League Texas Rangers.
Jerry Nichols of Memphis received the 2014 Distinguished Alumni in Athletic Achievement Award. He earned an associate’s degree from Walters State in 2004. As a Senators basketball player, he was named player of the year by the Tennessee Community College Athletic Association and a National Junior College Athletic Association All-American. He continued his collegiate basketball career at Arkansas State University, where he led the team in 3-point shooting and was named the top defensive player of the year his junior year. After assistant coaching jobs at Walters State and Union College, he was named men's head basketball coach and athletic director at Motlow State Community College. During his four-year tenure, he was twice named TCCAA basketball coach of the year. He is currently the head basketball coach at Southwest Tennessee Community College.

Ronald Seals of Sevierville received the 2014 Distinguished Alumni in Civic Achievement Award. He earned an associate’s degree from Walters State in 1976. He has over 40 years of law enforcement service. He began his public safety career in 1973, working with the Sevier County Sheriff’s Department. After graduating from Walters State, he was hired by the Pigeon Forge Police Department in 1977. He quickly moved up the ranks to become assistant chief of police. He returned to the Sevier County Sheriff’s Department in 1979. He has served as Sevier County sheriff since 2007 and was named the Tennessee Sheriff’s Association Sheriff of the Year in 2012. He is active in several professional community organizations, including the Police Benevolent Association and the Sevier County Ruritan Club.

Jim Claborn of Talbott received the 2014 Distinguished Alumni in Community and/or Voluntary Service Award. He was one of 56 students to graduate in the college’s first commencement in 1972. After earning a bachelor’s degree from the University of Tennessee, he spent 27 years teaching social studies at Meadowview Middle School in Morristown. He has also taught at Walters State, Morristown-Hamblen High School West and All Saints’ Episcopal School. Throughout his teaching career, Claborn received several teacher-of-the-year awards. And in 2001, he was a finalist for Tennessee Teacher of the Year. He is a respected and entertaining local historian, having appeared on NBC’s “Today” show and in the film, “The Last of the Mohicans.” He is a columnist for the “The Citizen Tribune” and is a member of the “Talk is Cheap” storytelling tour. In recognition of his efforts to communicate the rich history of this region, he was named a recipient of Carson-Newman University’s 2013 Award for Outstanding Educational Service to Appalachia.
Distinguished Faculty Awards

Dr. Bach Named Professor Emeritus

Dr. Eric Powell

Dr. Eric Powell, director of the Fire Science and Paramedic Program, has received an appointment to teach at the Army War College in Carlisle, Pa. Powell is serving as visiting professor with the Homeland Defense and Security Issues Group under the Center for Strategic Leadership and Development at the military college.

Powell and John Reeves, instructor and Paramedic Program coordinator, were recognized by the Tennessee Emergency Medical Services Education Association. Powell received the Full-Time Excellence in Teaching Award and Reeves was the recipient of the New Horizons Excellence in Teaching Award.

Walters State was recognized as an Apple Distinguished Program for 2013-15 for the innovative use of mobile technology as a tool for enhancing student engagement and improving learning outcomes.
Senators basketball coach Dave Kragel has been inducted into the NJCAA Women’s Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame. Dave has led the Lady Senators to 11 NJCAA National tournament appearances.

Golf coach Bill Gardner received the 2014 Dave Williams National Coach of the Year Award for the second straight year.

Walters State ranks among the top three community colleges in the country when it comes to using technology to improve the learning experience of students, according to a national survey by the Center for Digital Education.

The Sri Lanka Institute of Chemistry bestowed one of its highest honors on a Walters State faculty member, Dr. Eugene de Silva, associate professor of physics, received the Sri Lanka Ruby Anniversary Award in recognition of excellence in his academic career and his accomplishments in Sri Lanka and to the field of chemistry.

The Center for Workforce Development’s percentage score for performance goals related to job placement and employment. Walters State’s Center for Workforce Development is the administrative entity for Local Area 2 of the Workforce Investment Act.

Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for community colleges, honored Dr. Foster Chason, vice president for student affairs and director of athletics this past year. Chason was recognized as a 2014 Distinguished College Administrator.
Annual Literacy Conference
Walters State hosted the Fifth Annual East Tennessee Literacy Conference in March. The event creates awareness of literacy and literacy education. A total of 191 teachers and administrators representing K-12 and colleges and universities attended the conference.

Community Outreach, Collaborations

mEngage Leadership Academy
This past summer, over 100 educators representing 20 colleges and universities attended the mEngage Leadership Academy conference sponsored jointly by Walters State and the Tennessee Board of Regents. The conference focused on improving the effectiveness of mobilization in higher education classrooms. This was the second mEngage Academy held at Walters State. The first one, held in 2013, concentrated on developing mobilization plans.

96 Number of international education events and programs held at the college last year.

30 Concerts, plays, art exhibits and other cultural events produced by the college’s Humanities Division.

70 Events held at WSCC Great Smoky Mountains Expo Center.
Youth Programs

STEM Event for Girls
The college hosted East Tennessee’s first Expanding Your Horizons conference in May for girls in sixth through ninth grade. The event was designed to build confidence and inspire students to consider careers in science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Summer Math and Science Camp for Middle School Students
A math and science camp was held at the Morristown, Tazewell and Sevierville campuses for current seventh and eighth graders this past summer. The camp’s ultimate goal was to attract students to careers in math or science-related fields from groups currently underrepresented.

Kids College
Area elementary and middle school students got the unique opportunity to experience college and broaden their horizons this summer through Walters State’s Kids College.

Annual Mildred Haun Conference Celebrates Appalachian Literature
The college hosted the fourth annual Mildred Haun Conference in February. The conference is a celebration of Appalachian literature, scholarship and culture. This year’s conference featured Kelly Norman Ellis, an accomplished poet and founding member of the Affrilichian poets and Amy Greene, author of the critically acclaimed novels “Bloodroot” and “Long Man.”

194,026
Number of non-credit hours generated through the college’s Workforce Training Division, more than any other community college in the state.

449
Total number of students in fifth through eighth grades who participated in this year’s Talented and Gifted program.
Foundation Honors New Donors

Several individuals were honored for their generous gifts to the Walters State Community College Foundation during the annual meeting of the organization’s trustees in May at the college’s Sevier County Campus.

The late Dr. Sam O’Dell, Bill and Marcia Carlyle, Dr. Steve Rippetoe, and Denise Terry, all of Hamblen County, were recognized with the unveiling of their portraits, which will be hung in the President’s Trust Gallery at the college’s Morristown Campus.

O’Dell was professor emeritus of history at Walters State. His wife, Nancy, and other family and friends, established the Dr. Samuel R. O’Dell Memorial Scholarship to encourage students to become U.S. history teachers in this region.

The Carlyles established the Bill and Marcia Carlyle Athletics Fund in support of men’s basketball at Walters State. Bill Carlyle has been the head men’s basketball coach at Walters State for 37 years. Marcia Carlyle served for over 40 years as an educator, most recently as principal of East Ridge Middle School.

Rippetoe, a graduate of Walters State, is a pharmacist and owner of Howard’s Pharmacy in Morristown. He has provided support for the Senators athletics program for over 26 years.

Terry is an attorney practicing with The Terry Law Firm. She and her family provided funds to establish the Charles R. Terry Endowment for Athletics in honor of her late father.

Walters State Community College Vision

Walters State will be a premier community college, committed to increasing educational attainment and workforce preparedness through excellence in teaching and service.

Walters State Community College Mission 2010-2015

Walters State is a learning-centered, comprehensive, public community college dedicated to increasing educational attainment and supporting economic development by providing affordable, high quality educational opportunities for the residents of East Tennessee.

To accomplish the mission, the college:

- offers programs of study that lead to the Associate of Arts, Associate of Science, Associate of Science in Teaching, and Associate of Applied Science degrees or certificates in programs of study of one year or less
- delivers public service and non-credit programs in support of workforce development and personal enrichment
- employs highly qualified faculty and staff
- fosters and inspires student engagement and success
- provides convenient access through multiple campuses and advanced technology
- partners with other educational institutions to promote access and facilitate articulation and transfer
- pursues external sources of support and entrepreneurial initiatives
- assesses and responds to community needs
- provides opportunities for promoting diversity and cultural awareness to enhance quality of life
- pursues resourcefulness, effectiveness and efficiency through comprehensive accountability and continuous improvement programs.
